"A professional writer is an amateur who didn't quit."

– Richard Bach

This is a comprehensive list of the top managers and management companies currently working (mainly in Hollywood) who are worth submitting queries to. There are around one hundred managers on the list, and the best news is that each one is actively looking for new writers just like yourself.

While it's true screenwriting managers are often flooded with queries and submissions, they're often much more open to receiving them than agents. You can read more about why it's a good move to query managers over agents in our post, How To Get A Screenwriting Agent & Manager.

The List Is Divided Into 3 Sections:

- Accepts unsolicited queries. These are all managers and management companies who welcome queries and submissions from writers without representation and without a referral from an industry professional they know.
- No unsolicited queries. These screenwriting managers and companies state they do not wish to receive unsolicited material from writers.
- Unknown submission policy. These managers and companies don't state a preference one way or the other.

However, it's probably still worth querying companies who say they don't want unsolicited submissions, which we discuss in detail in our post Screenwriting Managers List To Download.

ACCEPTS UNSOLICITED QUERIES

"I had my hustle. It was whatever I could do to not end up working in a factory. If I had to shake it like a showgirl, I was going to do it."

– Ryan Gosling

The following companies all state that they're open to accepting unsolicited queries and screenplays from new writers.
